Many fine, minute strokes go into a master painting. The blend gives delight and success. Your life is this way, it's a blend of all your knowledge, reflections and experiences together with your conclusions and judgment.

We are proud of you, our 1956 Seniors! You have the right combination--courage, educational preparation and faith in God. Blended with determination, these are sure to lead you to success.

Class Prophecy

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen!

This is Bob McKnight, your ace reporter from Station KHHS in Fort Worth, Texas. Today, June 2, 1966, we are broadcasting a thrilling event. The new, modern Handley High School is being dedicated and the alumni present reads like a Who's Who! Royce Austin, owner of an immense chain of root beer stands, is accompanied by Benny Barrett, whose thoroughbred greyhound, Silver Bell, just won the International Greyhound Sweepstakes. Here comes Corene Barron, founder of a chain of body building clinics for women. Janice Beauchamp found time to rush down from New York, where she is the harassed editor of Vogue magazine. Her chief illustrator, Connie Cotter, is with her.

And now who do I see! Here is Ruth Cowan, who teaches voice at the Music Conservatory in Saint Louis. She recently made her debut on television. David Dobbs, the multi-billionaire of the engineering world, flew down in his chartered plane. Terry Dyal and Don Moten, commodores of the U.S.S. Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, respectively, obtained special leave to be here on this auspicious occasion.

But among all these I suppose there must be a note of sadness! Next I come upon the sad sight of Elizabeth Wickersham, superintendent of Wickersham's Home for Washed Out Women. With her is the charter member, Jane Pierce, who used to be a great actress, the toast of Broadway. And now—Jack Edwards, captain of the Green Bay Packers, is here with his wife, the former Miss Carol Parker, president of the National Professional Football Players' Wives Association. Barbara Fletcher, who made her fortune by discovering the vitamin pill that replaced Hadacol, is relaxing in the shade. Miss Adelene Fail, who is now appearing at the Fair Park Auditorium in Dallas, touring with the Metropolitan Opera Company, is with Gene Gwinn, who currently replaced Marlon Brando in the hearts of all American teenagers by his moving portrayal in "The Wild Waterfront."

Pat Latham, who just disproved Einstein's Theory of Relativity, is here, but looking just like the absent-minded professor that he is. With Pat is Roy Lee McDaniel, who has just proved that matter can be destroyed. He got the last laugh on Mr. Ross, after all.

Now appears that controversial business figure! Mr. Hugh Lyon has just secured a monopoly on Scenicruisers and at present is engaged in a battle questioning the legality of his monopoly. The famous lawyer, Fredrick Yates, is representing him. Charlene Price is here from Hollywood where she is director of the world-famous Drama School there. Kay Robertson, who composes scores for all the well-known movies, is here, looking very strange without her piano. Here comes Linda Scott, just proclaimed world champion all-around athlete at this year's Olympics!

And now, ladies and gentlemen, I see that lady dear to the hearts of all America's lovelorn. Miss Mally Smith, better known as Linda Lovely, is still writing her lovelorn column in the New York Times. Who's this in the center of that admiring mob? Why, it's Silent Samson, better known to you as Donald Gordon. He is the winner of the World's Heavyweight Wrestling Championship.

And here is a girl of very ambitious character! She has organized the first Girl-Tramp Labor Union in the United States. An odd accomplishment for a girl like Judy Hainsey! With Judy is Patsy Daugherty, who is the model for the world-famous Toni Dolls. Thomasene Duncan is just arriving now in her 1966 Cadillac Eldorado. Miss Duncan is sole owner of Duncan's Dress Shops for Smart Women. These are located throughout the country. Marshall Barton, the famous architect, just finished the design for the ninth wonder of the architectural world, the Barton Building. With Marshall is Charles Emerson Peters, owner of the Peters Factory, which produces sporting goods for left-handed athletes. Mr. Peters is laughing because he just heard one of Dale Fletcher's original jokes. Dale is currently writing for that side-splitting comedian, Howard Howard.

Mrs. Judy Jordan Martin, the renowned author, is here. Her famous book, "Helpful Food for Ulcerated Stomachs," just sold two million copies. With Judy is Delores Parker. She is the originator of the black coffee-boiled egg diet which is so popular throughout the United States today. And here is the dress designer who made it popular! Miss Calleen Dews, who created the famous "I" silhouette, is now working on another top secret fashion. Next appears Ronald Tawater. He is the winner of the Indianapolis Speed Bowl and holds an astounding speed record.

Bobby Duke has just invented a cigar which is guaranteed not to make beginners sick. Donald Dunkin, the famous inventor, has just announced a startling discovery. His built-in windshield wipers for eyeglasses have revolutionized the optical world. Dickie Beebe and Keith Brackman are currently the rage of Broadway starring in "The Thin Men." Gertrude Pickering is the president of the American Secretaries Association. She is currently crusading for hour-long coffee breaks for all secretaries. Miss Judy Thiessen now holds the title of Texas's prettiest airline hostess and is competing for the national title.

Jackie Watkins has flown down from Vassar, where she is dean of women. Billy Weiler is looking very happy today—and with good reason. His basketball team just won the world championship. Donna Green, Regina Ramick, and Joyce Smith are together. They have just astounded the world by the release of their literary masterpiece, "How to Make Husbands Do Your Housework." To protect them from irate husbands are their two bodyguards, Alvah McKinney and Stephen Foster.

Jerry Hoover is today a famous connoisseur of all kinds and flavors. He is telling Jack Kell about his newest discovery. Jack drives a squad car in Haltom City and has trapped many Handley students there. Ruth Lamb has a job any woman would envy. She is house-mother at the boys' dormitory at North Texas State College. Sandra Latta has just bought controlling interest in Kimbell's Wholesale Foods so she can satisfy her appetite. Paul Mathis runs a very successful rooster ranch. Here is a woman who has soothed many of America's heartaches! Edna McCormick is head of the McCormick Marital Relations Inc., because of her great knowledge of the subject. Beverly Routt has devoted her entire life as a special counselor for Juniors at the high school. Don Taylor liked Shirley's car so well that he is now a Chevrolet dealer. Shirley Watts is secretary at Taylor's Chevrolet. Mary Waldrop is at present teaching "Vernacular Vocabulary" at the new high school, along with Loretta Layne, who is teaching P. E., replacing Miss West, who has gone on the stage. And those, ladies and gentlemen, are the famous names here today, all members of the grand ole class of '56.
